Additionally, their quality and workmanship allow for the effective allergen reduction process of freezing, washing and drying, while maintaining all ASTM F963 and EN71 safety requirements. Testing of durability and quality has shown that this toy will withstand the repeated care and washing instructions outlined on every certified toy.

Choosing an asthma & allergy friendly™ certified toy is only one part of an overall allergen reduction plan in the home. The information herein is specific for this toy only. Always follow your physician's advice on asthma and allergy management. If the specific care guidelines are followed, this toy will not accumulate high levels of household allergens under normal conditions of use.
